I'm not robot!

Planning studies in Japan Currently Open for Application No (Below is the information of our last recruitment cycle for your reference) Duration 1 year, from October 2022. Eligibility sketch Academic background: undergraduate in non-Japanese universities that specialize in fields related to Japanese language and/or culture. Age: born from April 2, 1992 to April 1, 2004. Nationality: Canadian candidate can send a proof document on Japanese language ability. Starting date September or October 2022 Placement at the University Designated by the MEXT, taking into account your Japanese language ability, the result of written exams and specialized courses you want to do. Registration time Tuesday, February 8, 2022 Selection process 1. Document review 2. Examination (Japanese) and interview 2. Examination guidelines. * Request forms can be downloaded from here. Q: What should I do to start applying to the program? A: First, decide which level is the most appropriate for you—Bachelor Students. Second, decide on a large field of study, which is how to declare your major for the undergraduate study in Canada. The main fields of study may include subjects in the areas of Social Sciences, Humanities or Natural Sciences, Humanities or Natura suggest that apply in Japan. If your teacher or past teachers are not able to help you in where they have a search engine of all the universities in Japan. The search engine can help you find a university which offers the program of study you wish to pursue. A Q: When does the academic year begin and end in universities in Japan? A:A The academic year is divided into two semesters, the first lasting from April to September and the second from October to March. A Q: I want to apply to a technical college or vocational school in Japan, how do I do that? A:A Unfortunately, specialized training and vocational education (such as community colleges and vocational schools) are not covered by the MEXT scholarship program in Canada. If you are unsure whether the institution that interests you is a participating institution, please contact the nearest Japanese diplomatic mission (Embassy or Consulate-General). A Q: I am a Canadian student currently studying outside of Canada. How do I apply and do I have to return to Canada for the interview and necessary testing? A:A You must obtain the application forms from the Study in Japan website and submit them to either the Embassy or Consulate General which is closest to your home city. Yes, in principle, you must return to Canada for the interview and testing. A Q: I need the application form in Microsoft Excel or Word format. A:A Unfortunately, only PDF files are available for security reasons. A Q: I don¢AAAt have enough space to fill in my research plan (motivation, etc.) in the PDF file. A:à You can write your answer using a separate sheet of paper. Please make sure to indicate in the application form that a separate sheet will be joined (i.e. ¢ÃÂÂplease refer to attachment x¢ÃÂÂ), and clearly identity the question number on the niarfer esaelP .oN :A ?noitadnemmocer fo rettel cimedaca eno naht erom timbus I naC :Q. pj.oq.afom.to@lucofni Âta su tcatnoc esaelp, noiger uaenitaG-awattO eht fo tnediser a era uoy fI .voltcerid setadidnac htiw setacinummoc dna ytrap-driht a morf stnemucod eviecer tonnac adana? Are you a former Mext participants? Did you study earlier in Japan under another program or as a student financed in private? Do you want to contact us in infocul@ot.mofa.go.jp. Even though her interview of Mext scholarships either by email or skype, she pays to be prepared and seem professional. Most of MEXT the interview council you find online is for the process of applying embassy-registered, and with a reasons like this. In embassy application-ordered, the interview may be a part of make-orbreak of your application. (I will have a guide coming about it in the future, enter the discussion list to get updates when this is launch!). For the application recommended by the university, the interview will not be â € caltting its application in another successful way. So it is so important to be prepared. Will there be an interview? It depends on the school. For the PGP scholarship, universities are technically required to interviewe and interviewe and interviewed not necessarily means that your application has been rejected. If you are worried, you can always ask the writing where you submitted your request if there will be an interview process. But even if the interview is not a right thing, it is a good idea to prepare. MEXT Interview formats The two first interview by It looks more fancil. Try to think in advance what value you bring to your potential supervisor. Discover both your supervisor so think about ways you could help. What research experience or connections can you leverage to contribute to the interests of your advisor? How can your own research support what your supervisor is focused on? What the interview is to evaluate the University wants to test it as a person and as a scholar. Specifically, they will be looking for the items below: Responsibility The interview measures how quickly you respond to messages and guidelines. From the day you first contact your university until the day you graduate, you should be prepared to respond to any emails within 24 hours. Most Japanese universities will expect that from their students. This is an area where the interview can destroy your application: If you don't answer, you're out. Even if it's your email spam filter fault. (Make sure to list your university domain!) If your university asks a question, or asks for a document, and you cannot respond immediately, write immediately so that they know you received the message and are working on it. Give them a period of time for when you will respond and update them if there are changes. In Japan, this is common courtesy. The lack of response is laziness and disrespect to the sender. This is not the image you want to transmit. Ability of language The interview will also test your Research Plan, the university wants to test your languageJapan is the world capital of high but meaningless test scores. If you think a Skype interview will make you nervous, practice so that you know that it is. Conclusion: Be good in the interview as on paper, the good chances that the university is already more or less a priority list of candidates. It will be difficult to jump anyone above you, unless you are simply incredible. Your first goal should be not to fall. In most cases, it is so good in the interview - in language, reasoning, response capacity and research knowledge - as you were in your application, it will be enough to do the job. The interview questions, while I never participated in a University Mext interview in person, these are the types of questions I saw in other Mext and Scholarships interviews. Questions about your research as I mentioned above, your potential consultant will want to know more about your research plan. The plan you sent at your inscription was (probably) with only 2 pages. Be prepared to deepen what you want to cover and what your final goals are. In particular, you can see questions about your field research in the japan? Be prepared to respond not only with the relationship with japan, but why do you want to study at this university in particular with this consultant. This is a good opportunity for a small flattering, but keep it inside the reason! Questions about your future what is your goal for your research? How do you want to apply it? For the MEXT scholarship, you want to use the result of your research and/or your personal experience as a student in the japan to strengthen the bods between japan and their source paran. Most universities would love to see that you have a plan to use your research to contribute to the of his paran of origin and becoming a wool in that Paas. Both Mext and Japanhs Japanhs are most eager to educate future leaders in other countries who will have an affinity for Japan and strengthen the countries¢Ã bonds in the future. Questions about Your Past You¢ÃÂÎll probably get some questions on your academic or professional (if applicable) experience to date. Think about how what you have studied or worked on in the past has affected your research choice. If you can show convincing passion for your field and a reason you want to make a difference, that is excellent! You¢ÃÂÂll also want to show a track record of success. The university wants to know that you can take on a challenge and see it through without giving up or getting distracted. If you¢ÃÂÂve taken on a significant project or leadership position in the past, or if you¢ÃÂÂve demonstrated independence, you¢ÃÂÂve interned and leveraged that experience for your research, that shows that you can achieve goals that you set. Questions about Japan I don¢ÃÂÂr mean that they¢ÃÂÂre going to ask the year of the Meiji Restoration (unless you¢ÃÂÂre a history major), or who¢ÃÂÂs on the 10,000 yen bill. They want to know what you know about Japan and how prepared you are to live here. The university wants to be sure that, if you¢ÃÂÂre selected for the scholarship, you are prepared to leave your country, job, and family behind to come to Japan. They also want to make sure that you can handle the experience. If you have experience overseas or living on your own ¢Ã especially if you have studied abroad in Japan in the past ¢Ã bring that up as evidence that you can handle it. Talk to people from your country who have lived in Japan before, if you can. Find out about their experiences so that you can bring it up in the interview: ¢ÃÂÂI know from talking to my senpai that in Japan before, if you can bring up how you are studying Japanese, or plan to. If you have a family (spouse, kids) that depends on you, be prepared to answer about what you will do about them. Do you plan to bring them to Japan on a Dependent Visa later? Will they be taken care of in your home country? The university wants to know that you have a plan. H1 How Was Your MEXT Interview Experience? Those are all the questions that I can think of. Now, it¢ÃÂÂs over to you! If you¢ÃÂÂs over to you! If you¢ÃÂAs over to you! If you¢ÃAÂs over to you! If you¢ÃAA Scholarship Application FAQ top page and specific FAQ pages to see what I¢ÃÂÂve answered already and to find tips about how to get your questions in the comments here, on the FAQ page, or by email and I will answer them by updating the FAQ and letting you know when the answers are available I¢ÂÂÂd also recommend signing up for my mailing list to get notified whenever I have updates to any of the FAQs or new articles about the MEXT scholarship!
